UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

BLOOM ENERGY CORPORATION,
Petitioner,

v.
DWIGHT BADGER, et al.,
Respondents.

4

Case No. 21-cv-02154-PJH

5

ORDER PERMITTING
RESPONDENTS TO SUPPLEMENT
THEIR RESPONSE AND PETITIONER
TO REPLY TO THE SUPPLEMENT

6

Re: Dkt. No. 23

7

On July 15, 2021, the court held a case management conference in this action. At the conference, counsel for respondents, Andrew Munro ("Counsel Munro") requested an opportunity to supplement respondents' June 9, 2021 response (Dkt. 19) to the petition. Counsel Munro indicated that such opportunity might serve as a viable substitute for any purported "counter-petition" or motion to vacate that respondents intended to file in connection with the arbitration award at issue.

8

The court GRANTS respondents' request to file a brief supplementing their June 9, 2021 response. That brief may not exceed fifteen pages. Respondents must file any supplemental brief within seven days of this order. Petitioner may file a reply to that supplement within fourteen days of this order. That brief may not exceed ten pages. The parties should avoid repeating any arguments that they've already made in their existing filings.

9

As part of its supplemental filing, a party may proffer any additional evidence it sees fit. The parties should file any such evidence on the docket as attachments (i.e., Dkt. #-#) to its respective supplemental brief.

10

IT IS SO ORDERED.
